An Offer!
Shall we take it up?
November/December 2010?

“Dressage for all Disciplines” — dressage for all ages and stages and abilities and levels - from an active competitor, coach and clinician, comes this offer to pass on knowledge not just in the art of dressage, but also biomechanics. Are you a starter?

Susan Hoffman Peacock

Susan Hoffman Peacock is a truly unique dressage instructor. The fact that she is USDF Nationally (4th level) Certified Instructor-Trainer, an International Clinician, FEI rider and trainer and has been teaching the USDF Adult Camps continuously for 13 years only help her popularity. She is a Biomechanics expert with a teaching style that allows for success at all levels. Her positive concepts and detailed explanations leave students with the confidence and skill set to succeed.

This is an exciting opportunity for the ridden Arabian enthusiast, for any discipline. The aim is to have fun in a learning environment. Clinics are aimed at a total of 10 people. To ensure success for this exciting venture we need 20 people. Susan also gives lectures on biomechanics, and welcomes question and answer times. We hope to be able to combine both the ridden clinics and the lectures.
